Chromotherapy & Aromatherapy

Open your senses to relaxation

Chromotherapy and aromatherapy are two holistic wellness techniques designed to enhance overall well-being, each working in a unique way.

Chromotherapy is based on the use of colours to harmonize the body's energy. Each colour emits a specific vibration that, according to practitioners, influences emotions and energy centres (chakras). For example, blue is often associated with calm and serenity, while red is linked to stimulation and vitality. In our spas, chromotherapy is integrated through multicoloured LED lighting systems that create a soothing atmosphere and encourage both physical and mental relaxation.

Aromatherapy, meanwhile, harnesses the natural benefits of essential oils extracted from plants to positively affect the mind and body. When diffused into the air or spa water, these oils can produce relaxing, revitalizing, or even therapeutic effects. For example, lavender essential oil is renowned for its calming and anti-stress properties, while eucalyptus helps clear the respiratory tract and refresh the senses.

Our spas feature built-in essential oil diffusers to deliver a complete sensory experience that promotes deep relaxation and muscle recovery.

Key features:

- Chromotherapy acts through sight, balancing the body's energy with light and colour.
- Aromatherapy acts through smell, using the biochemical properties of plants to influence both body and mind.

Together, these two therapies complement each other perfectly, offering a holistic wellness experience that blends visual harmony with sensory relaxation.
